“ Kenneth was everything that an uncle should be. He was deprecatingly funny while kind, adventurous while stable, and a good source of Christmas presents. If he had the rough life that certainly accompanies every small-business owner, he never showed its effects. The number and variety of businesses that he owned revealed a subtle truth about Kenneth – there wasn't much that he couldn't do. His success and that of his family were no accident, Kenneth persevered through everything. When I learned that Kenneth had the option to wind down his life sedately, or undergo rigorous treatment to survive, and he chose the latter, I thought: “Of course he did.” Uncle Kenneth will remain on Earth a good deal longer in the examples that he provided and the people that he touched. - Keith (nephew) and the Virginia Blankenships

“ Kenneth, I shall miss my buddy. I have enjoyed our adventure of good times together. It was always a pleasure of being around "Ken the Great". One of the features I love above you is that you are so spontaneous. Your distant first cousin.

“ Kenneth was my brother, my friend and my mentor. He was the 7th of nine children of Rev. Dewey and Pansy O'Dell Bouldin who brought us up on a 100 acre farm in Aroney. He was predeceased by his siblings Christine, George Fate, Aaron and Mary Ann. Kenneth served his country in the Vietnam War, traveled all over the world and was a self made entrepreneur. I will miss him but he in heaven with our family. He is much loved.

“ As a brother in law Kenneth was always available to help in any way and although he had fun continually, his sincere desire to help others always shone through. He will be missed.
