“Mary was my dear friend, and before that, my mother's best friend. Then she was a caregiver for my mom, one member of a great group headed by Joyce Hall. In recent years, I regarded Mary as a dear aunt. Her wisdom and sweetness were exemplary. Mary was so positive, always could cheer me up. And such a hard worker. Her specialties included her marvelous flower garden, full of show-stopping dahlias and she was one of those Southern cooks whose food signified love. My husband and I so enjoyed the cheese-jalapeno cornbread she brought to us. In recent years, as Mary and I both developed health issues, our phone conversations became shorter, but were still so essential to my peace of mind. Already there are things I wish I could tell her. I miss her so much! She was a special, precious person. Jane Maughon
