“ I have so many memories with my sister but one that stands out is when I was going through my cancer treatment, she drove 6 hours to be with me during the holidays. Pam was quite funny. When she was in the hospital having her leg amputated, the physical therapist who was a male, told her to hold on to his waist and pull herself up. She took it upon herself to grab his backside as well. Pam, you will certainly be missed. I can't believe I've lost both of my sisters in 2 years. You and Melissa behave up there. I love you.
