“ A bit over a year is what I got with Scottie. In that year, my lovely wife Stacey & I, along with our five children, got a concentrated dose of my father & their grandpa. Tons of stories, laughter, & memories. I loved how the kids struggled to understand their newly found "Papa Scottie" thru his thick Alabama accent, but they knew he was most likely telling a joke. His heart & his ever-present sense of humor are what I'll take with me from the year I had with him in my life. Scottie was so much more of an extrovert that I am, but I saw a lot of myself in him, & I could see that he was largely driven by the love of a great woman, as I am. Sammie, I hope we get to know you more in the future.

I want to feel cheated, I really do. I want to feel that I deserved more time with him, that it isn't fair for our kids not to hear his voice again, even if they couldn't make out every word...but I don't. I feel grateful, as corny as that seems. I can't help but think of all I'd have missed had just one more year passed before we found one another. I feel fortunate...so fortunate. I've got a brother & sister that I didn't even know existed...& without Patrick & Wes, I never would have known any of this. I've gotten to know Greg in particular, & he's the hero big brother that I never had. Greg is the only reason that Scottie was able to visit us in California, & he's just so strong, & so graceful in life, no matter what it throws at him. I want to be more like you, Greg. So, instead of feeling sorry myself, I'm going to do what Greg would do, & just be thankful.

“ Laughter is what I associated with Scottie. He always told a good story. When my brother and sister were small children we loved to see Scottie. He was our second cousin who felt like a first cousin. So glad I saw him in July. He will be missed by all. Thoughts and prayers to the entire family for the loss of father, husband, brother and friend. He was a legend and a fighter. RIP Scottie Shirley!

He was always "there" for anyone that needed him. A great husband, stepdad to my brother and I and granddaddy.
