“ I worked with Winfred (I did not call him Freddy) at Shook and Fletcher Supply Company for several years. He was a hard worker, smart, and always ready to help customers and coworkers. He was just beginning his guard career and also involved in racing support activities. Talked a lot about Michelle and that she was love of his life. We lost touch over the years. I am sorry he departed this life so soon. His legacy resides with his family and all the guard members he trained during his career. My condolences to Michelle and family.

“ Words are hard to find at times like this, but I just wanted you to know that your family is in our thoughts and prayers. So thankful you can find comfort in knowing you will be reunited with your Dad one day! Freddy and I (Melinda) weren't the closest of friends, but we were in the band together. I know y'all are all about band, so you are aware that band is like a family, and being in the same section (trumpet) makes you that much closer. Freddy was somewhat of a perfectionist and it was obvious he enjoyed band. It's great that he got to spend his life doing what he enjoyed. Can't you just imagine him playing a trumpet in heaven?

Our hearts go out to you during this difficult time.

“ Freddy was a former student of mine. From the beginning he was dedicated to striving for the best. An excellent trumpet player, he had an instant love for band and later guard. He was dependable and ready to help anyone who needed it. His wit and laughter was a great asset on long band and guard trips. He went on to perform and direct many groups. He was a gifted teacher, showing a caring for each student. I enjoyed teaching Freddy those many years ago and our conversations since then. I consider him to be a friend and he will be missed by many. Beverly Jones Moore
